Hamirpur assembly bypoll: EC experiments with QR code enabled voter slips in 5 booths

The Election Commission of India (EC) has launched a pilot project in which it is using Quick Response (QR) enabled voter slips during polling. At present, five booths in Uttar Pradesh's Hamirpur are using the QR code enabled slips. Voting for the Hamirpur assembly segment by election is currently underway. The slips can be scanned with a mobile phone, even without the internet, which makes it even more user-friendly as many in the interiors of the country do not use, or have access to an internet connection. By scanning the code, voters can get details about their booths, such as the number of people in the queue, the per centage of voting done, among others. Five booths in Hamirpur, including three in the rural areas, are using the QR-code enabled slips. The QR code enabled slips will also save time during polling. On reaching the polling station, the booth-level officer present there will scan the slip from his mobile and send it directly to the presiding officer. After this, the presiding officer will also scan the code and send the voter to the EVM to cast his vote.
